The screenshot displays the Denver Seminary website's Academics section. At the top, navigation tabs include Home, Admissions, Academics, MyDenSem, Student Life, Faculty, Business Office, and Employee In. Below the tabs, a breadcrumb trail reads "You are here: Academics > Home".

The left sidebar menu is titled "Academics" and lists several categories: Home, Catalogs and Program Handbooks, Forms, Master's-level Syllabi, Class Schedules, Degree Worksheets, Advanced Standing Information, MDiv Orals Information, Course Evaluation FAQ, Course Search, and New Student Preregistration Information. Below these are various divisions: Academic Calendar, Biblical Studies Division, Christian Ministries Division, Christian Thought Division, Counseling Division, Training and Mentoring, and Library Remote Access Info. A blue arrow points to the "Library Remote Access Info" link.

The main content area is titled "Academics" and is divided into three columns. The first column, "Catalogs and Program Handbooks", lists academic catalogs from 2012-2013 to 2005-2006, along with program handbooks for the Master of Arts Program and a "Go to Main Screen" link. The second column, "Advanced Standing Information", contains "General Information" about advanced standing for students and "Advanced Standing Application (A Primer on Advanced Standing, Substitute Electives)" with a PDF link. The third column, "Study Guides", includes a note about master's level requirements.
