For a basic search, enter a word or phrase into the search box and then click search. Or choose Advanced for more search options.

Click on any book jacket for more information.
There are two ways to view a results set.

The view above is a list view.

The view below is the flow view.

View options are located here – just click to change the view. Default is list view.
Library Catalog number refers to items in our library. Journal Articles number refers to journal articles in our databases. Library Catalog view is the default. Click on Journal Articles to access journal articles. (Note: Journal Articles will only be listed in the basic search – NOT when using the Advanced Search option.)

Use any of these facets to further refine your search. Click on a title to go to the details view.
Placing Holds

NOTE: Holds may only be placed on items that are not available. You must be logged in to your library account to place a hold, if not, you will be prompted to log in.

You will not be able to place a hold if the item is available. If you attempt to do so, you will receive a message that the item is on the shelves.

For multiple hold requests, click in the boxes to the right of each record, and pick “Place a hold” from the action drop down menu. The drop down list also allows you to save checked items to a list.

NOTE: Holds may only be placed on items that are not available. You must be logged in to your library account to place a hold, if not, you will be prompted to log in.
Note: Due to limitations of the search algorithm and the interface with our EBSCO databases, when using the Advanced Search, no results will be listed for Journal Articles.
Advanced search allows you to add various criteria to your search, but is limited to catalog searches only. It does not search the databases.

“+” sign adds a new row to your search. “-“ sign removes the row from your search.
The Details screen (default) provides various details of the item and links to similar items.
The All Copies screen provides Collection, call number and status information.
This login option requires your library barcode and PIN.

The EZ login option requires a username and password (An EZ login can be created after you access your account using your barcode & PIN.)

After clicking on the Log in link in the upper right corner of any LS2PAC screen you will be prompted with this display. You will also receive this display when you click the “My Account” button from the Library Home page.
On your account page you can view the items checked out, holds, fines, saved lists, saved searches and account history. You can also set up or change an EZ Login.
If you have previously saved some of your searches, they can be found under the Saved Searches tab in your account. You can rerun the search by clicking on the title. You also have the option of renaming the search or deleting it.
If you have saved any lists from previous searches, you will find them under the Saved Lists tab. You may view the list in bibliographic format, share with others by email, print the list or even set up your RSS feed. You may remove items from your list or place hold on items from your list if they are currently unavailable.
Click on the “Help” link on the bottom of any page to access the complete Help index for LS2PAC.
